

Electronic Issues of The Corporate Counsel and The Corporate Executive

For law firms only, we have decided to offer electronic issues of our critical print newsletters: The Corporate Counsel and The Corporate Executive. Responding to demands from our readers, one of the primary reasons for making these print publications accessible electronically were requests from junior partners, associates (and even paralegals) who often wait endlessly on a distribution list to receive the most recent issue. Now everyone in your firm can receive issues as soon as they are written—before they are printed and mailed to clients.

Another key benefit is that our researchable “Back Issues” traditionally have had a one-year lag—making up-to-the present research difficult. Now, you will be able to electronically search all the issues (including the very latest issue) of The Corporate Counsel and The Corporate Executive—relieving you from searching the past year’s issues by hand!
